BIOGRAPHY

Andrew is non-executive Chairman of Acorus Investment Management, a China-Africa private equity fund. Prior Andrew was Managing Partner (Asia) of Entoro Capital, an SEC-licensed boutique oil & gas investment bank based in Houston, and an accredited International Petroleum Negotiator. Andrew was CEO (UK) and a director and chair of the investment committee of a Chinese Private Equity group with US$500 million under management. The investment strategy focused on real estate, energy and commodities. Andrew held board seats on the Beijing fund, the HK management company, the Cayman funds and several investee companies.

Previously, Andrew was the General Manager of Banking for National Australia Bank in Hong Kong, where he oversaw the private banking, commercial banking, and retail banking businesses. Andrew served on NAB's Asian leadership committee, asset and liabilities committee (ALCO), and chaired NAB's Asian investment committee. He oversaw the acquisition of a licensed boutique asset management firm in Hong Kong that specialised in alpha generating strategies from optimised sector allocations. Andrew was an approved alternate bank CEO by Hong Kong's banking regulator. Prior to this, Andrew worked for Westpac, JP Morgan and investment bank Jardine Fleming. Andrew also founded and successfully grew an Australasian technology consultancy company for 9 years.

In 2015, Andrew founded not-for-profit Community Education Abroad (CEDA), which brings high school children from all over the world to teach primary school in Cambodia, as part of their Community Action Service (CAS) requirements.

Andrew holds an MBA from The University of Sydney. He has made over 25 appearances in the media including the South China Morning Post and the Australian Financial Review. Since 2010, Andrew has served as adjunct faculty at Macquarie University's Graduate School of Management and is also a Visiting Scholar at HKUST's Business School teaching the course "Energy Economics and Geopolitics". In 2018, Andrew was appointed to the United Nations' ESCAP Banking & Finance Task Force. Andrew is also a current or former board member of several private investment companies. Andrew also serves on several not-for-profit boards including the Australian Chamber of Commerce in HK (currently as chair) and two school boards in Asia. Andrew is the deputy chairman and treasurer of the Australian International School in Hong Kong, and in 2018 was awarded "Board of the Year (NFP)" by the HK Institute of Directors. Andrew has lectured on the Australian Institute of Company Directors International Company Directors course since 2012.
